

Acoustically Rated Folding Wall provides the flexibility to connect two learning studios into a learning suite, or presentation forum for as many as 60 students

The Commons is the heart of the learning community, and is always located to have a great view, and lots of daylight. This space can be used for project based learning, direct instruction, small group work, student presentations, and even student dining.

Glass Overhead Doors connect learning studios to the commons, providing the flexibility for teachers to extend learning activities into the commons. Additionally activities in the commons can borrow space from the learning studios.
