Dear Livingstone Students,

Happy Children's Book Day. The Vancouver Public Library is purchasing many more audiobooks to add to their collection. You are able to borrow them if you have a Vancouver address.

AudibleAudio.com is also offering children's audiobooks for free. I just listened to The Diary of a 6th Grade Ninja. It was very funny, and the narrator was very good. I'm still like to read print books but I often listen to audiobooks while I'm painting or cleaning house or sorting or biking.

I have been taking a big risk in my learning by creating a #SchoolAtHome video tweet for you each school day. I really don't like seeing myself on video but I'm hoping it will be another way for you to feel connected with school. You do not need a Twitter account; you just go to the Livingstone school website and click on the Twitter feed on the home page. Enjoy!

April 3rd is Kids' Yoga Day. You might be interested in the Yoga Buggy invitation below. Yoga Buggy provided the yoga program for Division 8-12 and the intermediate after-school program. Try it. I like yoga a lot.

Teachers are making contact with your family this week. Stay tuned. More to come.

From,

Ms. Froese

The Yoga Buggy

Join Us!

Join the Yoga Buggy live as we celebrate Kids Yoga Day on Friday April 3, 2020.

All around the world, kids will be participating in a fun yoga sequence led by a Kids Yoga Day Ambassador at 11:00 AM (in your own time zone). The Yoga Buggy is presenting a fun filled 30-minute online class for kids of all ages.

Participation is FREE and open to everyone but limited to 100 participants on Zoom. All you need to do is register here and join the fun! If possible, please give a small donation to support our ongoing effort to bring yoga to all kids.

Thank you so much for your support, and we hope to see you April 3rd!
