

Flex Humanities Organization

Flex Humanities 8

History 8	Fine Arts 8
Classical Studies 8	Interactive Arts and Design 8

Flex Humanities 9

History 9	Fine Arts 9
Classical Studies 9	Interactive Arts and Technology Design 9

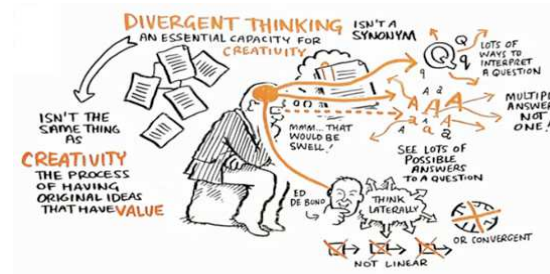

Flex Humanities 10

History 10	Film Studies 10
Classics 10	Interactive Arts and Technology Design 10

Flex Humanities Students

Flex Humanities students are independent creative, divergent thinkers and learners, who can and want to work independently in a project-based learning environment, and who can and want to work in cooperative groups.

Within the program, we work together collaboratively in a dynamic, cross-curricular learning environment. Students are encouraged to pursue self-selected topics, which have personal, intellectual, and social relevance.

At the beginning of each year, all students attend camp at the UBC Loon Lake Resource Centre. At the end of grade 12 students participate in curriculum based field study to New York.

Flex Humanities is a program for students who wish to develop to their fullest intellectual and emotional potential as individuals while engaging themselves as members of an altruistic society.

Student Selection

Criteria:

1. Program Application
2. Grade Seven Report Card (Special Emphasis: Language Arts, Social Studies, and Fine Arts)
3. FH Intake Day observations, group interviews, and Essay Write

Students must demonstrate the following:

- ◇ Motivation for academic success
- ◇ Good achievement in Language Arts, Social Studies, and Fine Arts
- ◇ Ability to work independently
- ◇ Ability to work in groups

The program attempts to:

- Achieve a gender balance representative of application mix

Students should:

- Commit to completing all three years of the Flex Humanities Program.
- Be prepared to participate in all Field Studies
- Contribute to a safe, caring, inclusive, and peaceful environment
- Abide by the District's Code of Conduct